

Princeton Symphony's May 31 free music-and- conversation event with musicians and executive director

Posted on: May 21, 2020

On May 31 at 4 p.m. ET, the Princeton Symphony Orchestra in New Jersey will present “At Home with the PSO: A Visit with Rossen Milanov and Friends,” a free virtual gathering hosted by Executive Director Marc Uys. Participating in the event will be Music Director Rossen Milanov as well as violinist Daniel Rowland and cellist Maja Bogdanović, who were both scheduled to perform at the orchestra's canceled May concert; PSO concertmaster Basia Danilow will speak about balancing music and life at home. The event is free, but those interested should register in advance at princetonsymphony.org. Guests may ask questions during the event or submit questions in advance for Uys, Milanov, or the featured guests by sending an email to info@princetonsymphony.org with “At Home Event Question” in the subject line.
